Prefatory Note.

In the preceding volume to the present publication (viz., Denizations and Naturalizations, 1600—1700, Vol. XVIII of the publications of the Huguenot Society) I gave an introductory outline of the history of Naturalization Law so far as relates to England, Ireland and the Plantations from mediæval times to the present. To that introduction Mr. Giuseppi has contributed additional material as far as concerns the Plantations in the eighteenth century in his introduction to his separately edited volume ("NATURALIZATION OF FOREIGN PROTESTANTS IN THE AMERICAN COLONIES," Vol. XXIV of the publications of the Huguenot Society, 1921.)

For the present these two introductions carry the sketch of the history of the law of naturalization as far as it can be carried until further documentary material is available.

It was my intention (and was so announced in the introduction to the earlier volume of this work, Vol. XVIII) to follow up the above introduction by a second one which was intended to take its place in the present volume and which was to deal with the religious history of France from the point of view of the influence of that history upon the ebb and flow of the various streams of waves of migration evidenced in the lists of naturalized persons. But that promise was made in 1911, and since 1911 the great war has happened and personal bereavement has come to me, and I am no longer able to carry out my promise. It would have entailed unremitting study of sources in France and that is now precluded.

I therefore send this volume forth shorn of such introduction, but it is probably none the worse for that.

All that is necessary further to state here is that on pp. 72—77 will be found a full explanatory note on the episode of Oath Roll Naturalizations in the time of Queen Anne.

The index to the present volume has been compiled by my sister-in-law, Miss Catherine Goldsbrough, to whom my warmest thanks are due. It has been a task of forbidding difficulty. Quite frequently one and the same person applied, firstly, for denization, and then, secondly, at a subsequent period for naturalization. In the first case his name is usually given in a Latin form on the privy seal or on the patent roll. In the second place, his name is invariably given in an English form in the private Act preserved in the House of Lords. Between the two forms there may be, and frequently is, the greatest variety. The problem of the index has been not merely to bring these variant forms together under one and the same heading so as to preserve identity but also to guide the modern searcher to the most probable equivalent modern form by an elaborate system of cross references. In such a procedure perfection is unattainable. But a really earnest attempt has been made to make the index really serviceable by such grouping and such cross references.

With regard to my own editorial method, it is perhaps necessary to draw attention to the fact that to each Naturalization Act I have prefixed, in square brackets, a legislative history of the Act, the preparatory petitions, the procedure in Committees, the successive votes in both Houses and the final assent. The toil involved in such editorial work has been heartbreaking. But it has not been resultless. Quite apart from the number of cases of private Acts introduced and not proceeded upon (and which are therefore not included in the House of Lords collection of private Acts, but which are rescued and preserved in the present volume), the Committee proceedings frequently furnish names which were put forward at certain stages and subsequently dropped, either for want of sacramental certificate or for want of payment of fees, or even because of positive hostility on the part of the Committee or of either House. These omitted names are all preserved ambulando in the introductions or in the footnotes to each successive Naturalization Act throughout the present volume.

NATURALIZATION ACT.

13 Wm. III., No. 37.

[Petition read 1700-1 Mar. 22 for the bill. This petition stated that Jane Barkstead, widow and relict of Francis Barkstead, late citizen and mercer of London, deceased, was the daughter of George Gill, and was born at Lyons in France, but sent over into England very young, about 30 years ago and married the said Francis Barkstead who was an Englishman, who died about 7 years since, leaving 3 infant children; to whom he by his will gave a third part of his estate and made the petitioner executrix; who proved the will and put out her children's money at interest upon securities which have been approved by the Court of Chancery; that the persons who borrowed the said money are ready to pay it in but are advised that the petitioner being a foreigner cannot re-assign or make a good title without being naturalized.

The bill was accordingly ordered on that day; was presented 1701 April 1; read a first time on April 1; passed the third reading on May 24; was agreed to by the Lords without amendment on June 9 and received the royal assent on June 12.

See Commons Journals xiii, pp. 423, 463, 466, 475, 515, 552, 563, 603, 625; Lords Journals xvi, pp. 728, 729, 739.]

The bill was ordered on April 1; presented on April 10; read a first time April 17; passed the Commons on June 2; passed the Lords on June 10, and received the royal assent on June 12.

See Commons Journals xiii, pp. 464, 479, 497, 502, 513, 586, 590, 614, 626; Lords Journals xvi, pp. 716, 721, 732, 739. For his Sacramental certificate, etc., see Hist. MSS. Reports, House of Lords MSS., new series, vol. iv, p. 388.]

the better enjoyment whereof he left his native country, and has resided here 10 years where he hopes ever to abide. He was ordered to be included in Lofland's naturalization bill but was not so included. His bill was read a first time in the Lords April 9. In Committee his brother Hector Francis Pynyot and Henry Ditch were ordered to be added to his bill. Hector Francis Pynyot's petition, read on April 10, stated that he was born of Protestant parents in France, came over for the better enjoyment of his religion and intends to continue here. On the same day Henry Ditch's (Heinrich Dich) petition was read, stating that he was late Quartermaster in Brigadier Shaack's Regiment of Horse in the English establishment; attended the King at his first coming over and served in the war of Ireland and in Flanders; was broke three years ago, and not being naturalized has been incapable of any post in the army; is settled in England with a wife and 4 children and desires to serve the King and kingdom. He received the Sacrament on April 6 at the German Lutheran Church in the Savoy according to the usage of the Lutheran Church.

The completed bill passed the Lords on April 17; was read a first time in the Commons on May 15; passed with amendments on June 9, to which amendments (being the addition of James Bruce) the Lords agreed on the following day; and it received the royal assent on June 12.

NATURALIZATION ACT.

2 Anne. No, 37.

[The petition of Henry Boisrond (de St. Leger) and others paying for naturalization was presented to the House of Lords 1703-4 Jan. 13. It was read a first time in the Lords Jan. 20. In Committee on Jan. 25 the name of John Desminiere was struck out because he had not taken the oaths or appeared. But his name appears in the Act. The bill passed the Lords on Jan. 28. It was read a first time in the Commons on Feb. 9, and finally passed the Commons with amendments on Feb. 22. The Lords agreed to the amendments on the following day, and the bill received the royal assent on Feb. 24. The Commons' amendments consisted in the insertion of all the names from Combecroze to Matteux. The variants in the text are from the entry of these additional names in the Commons Journals xiv, p. 346.

NATURALIZATION BILL WHICH DID NOT PASS.

For Naturalizing the Protestant Subjects of the Principality of Orange.

[On 1703-4 March 1 the House of Lords ordered the Judges to bring in a bill for naturalizing all the Protestant subjects of the Principality of Orange who have departed their country on account of their religion and who are or shall come and settle in this kingdom. The bill was read a first time in the Lords on March 4, and it passed the Lords on March 14. It was sent down to the Commons on March 15, but the Commons did nothing upon it, although on Mar. 27 the Lords sent a messenger to them to put them in mind of the bill as "tending so much to encourage the Protestant religion throughout Europe."

See Lords Journals xvii, pp. 465, 469, 470, 476, 479, 480, 576; Commons Journals, xiv, 389.

The amended draft of the bill is printed in Hist. MSS. Reports, House of Lords MSS., new series, v, pp. 556-7. It provides that such persons as above coming into England between 1701-2 Mar. 8 and 1703-4 Mar. 8 shall be adjudged natural subjects of the Queen, with their wives and children under 14 years of age, on taking, before any two Justices of the Peace in any county, city or place, the oath of allegiance and supremacy and an oath to the effect that he or she was an inhabitant of the said

Principality and had been forced to leave for religion's sake. The certificates of the justices attesting such oaths were to be filed of record in Chancery, without fee : and all such persons so naturalized were to be at liberty to set up and exercise their crafts, trade or manual occupation where they shall reside within this realm. This abortive bill is very noticeable as it formed the pattern on which was built the subsequent Act of 7 Anne, C. 5 : for which see infra, p. 71.

In connexion with these Protestants of the Principality of Orange it may be of interest to preserve the following note of a grant which is entered on the Patent Roll of 2 Anne, part 1, dated 1703 Nov. 11 :—

A grant of charity to a great number of the inhabitants of the Principality of Orange, subjects of the late King, William III., who have constantly adhered to the Reformed Religion and have lately been forced by the French King's orders to quit their native country and their estates because they would not forsake their holy religion and turn Papists : and the said Refugees to the number of 3,000 of both sexes and of all ages and conditions are, through Papish cruelty, wholly bereft and made destitute of all means of subsistence : "of whose deplorable condition we declare ourselves highly sensible." Therefore hereby the Queen grants them letters patent of licence for gathering alms according to rules herein laid down. Collection moneys to be paid into the Chamber of London : trustees appointed (names thereof) for disposing the moneys among the said Refugees.]

NATURALIZATION BILL WHICH DID NOT PASS.

3 Anne.

[In connexion with this bill the following petitions were presented to the Lords: viz., 1704 Dec. 15 for Francis Lecroix et al, L. J. xvii, p. 601; 1704-5 Jan. 10 for Thomas Gaugain et al, ibid., p. 611; Jan. 10 for Francis Roger et al, ibid., p. 610; Jan. 11 for Daniel Bourbon et al, ibid., p. 612; Jan. 12 for Isaac Garnier et al, ibid., p. 613; Jan. 17 for Peter Ricusett [Rieusett] et al, ibid., p. 620; Jan. 18 for John Gugelman, ibid., p. 621; Jan. 23 for John Renner (? Rymers), ibid., p. 629. The bill was read a first time in the Lords 1704 Dec. 22 as a bill for Jacob Pechels, Elias Landes, Francis Lacroix et al. It passed the Lords on 1704-5 Jan. 26, the names from 11 to 50 below being added in Committee. The bill was read a first time in the Commons on Feb. 5. Besides inserting the names from 51 to the end the Commons on the third reading in a full house inserted a general proviso that no person named in this Act who is not a natural born subject of the kingdom of England, or whose parents or parent were or was not born within this realm or the territories thereto belonging shall have any vote in any Parliamentary election. The Lords did not accept this proviso, and the Bishop of Salisbury, in order to a conference with the Commons, reported the Lords' reasons for their disagreement as follows: "(1) the greatest wealth and strength of any nation ariseth from the number of the inhabitants, which all wise Governments have endeavoured to increase by giving all possible encouragement, privileges and freedoms to such foreigners who should come and settle among them. (2) The most useful and beneficial manufactures in England were first brought in and erected here by those who fled out of Flanders from the inquisition and the cruelty of the Duke d'Alva. (3) Many useful trades have been improved and many considerable manufactures set up by the French Protestants who have lately left their native country to preserve their liberties and religion from the tyranny and persecution of the present French King. (4) The greatest encouragement that can be given to these and any other strangers to settle in England is the allowing them all the freedoms, liberties and privileges of Englishmen. (5) In all governments, ancient and modern, those persons which they thought fit to naturalize were admitted to enjoy the same rights and privileges as the natives. (6) That the restraining those who are able to purchase lands or otherwise to settle themselves thereunto, from giving their consent to the election of their representatives in Parliament is without example and contrary to the custom of all nations. (7) That the admitting this clause might endanger the taking away of the votes of all foreigners though naturalized or denizens, for unless an exemption of this Act were lodged in every place where an election is to be made the vote of any foreigners might be refused under pretence he was comprehended in this Act." The conference between the two Houses was held on Feb. 26, but on March 13 the Commons voted to insist on their proviso. Another conference was proposed, but it was prevented by the prorogation and the bill was accordingly lost.

See Lords Journals xvii, pp. 609, 614, 630, 633, 679, 684, 697; Commons Journals xiv, pp. 497, 514, 519, 528, 545, 546, 548, 550, 575, 577, 578.

In the following list the names from No. 1 to 50 are taken from the Hist. MSS. Reports, House of Lords MSS., new series, vi, pp. 241-5 where the Sacramental certificates are printed. The remaining names are taken from the Commons Journals xiv, p. 528. The whole list must be compared with Pechels' later Act, 4 Anne, c. 24, infra, pp. 46 seq.

NATURALIZATION ACT : PUBLIC ACT.

4 and 5 Anne, c. 16, for Naturalizing the Electress Sophia and her Descendants wherever born.

[A Public Act, 4 and 5 Anne, c. 14, was introduced 1705 Nov. 27 for exhibiting a bill in this present Parliament for naturalizing the Electress Sophia; this procedure taking the place of a bill proposed on Nov. 21 for naturalizing the House of Hanover. This Act received the royal assent Dec. 3. On that day the bill for such naturalization was read a first time in the Lords. The bill passed the Lords on Dec. 6. It was read a first time in the Commons on Dec. 7; passed the Commons without amendment on Dec. 10, and received the royal assent Dec. 21.

For the first of these two Acts see Lords Journals xviii, pp. 23, 32, 33, 34, 39; Commons Journals, 43, 46, 47, 51; Hist. MSS. Reports, House of Lords MSS., new series, vi, p. 328. For the second Act see Lords Journals xviii, pp. 39, 42, 43, 59; Commons Journals, 54, 57, 58, 59, 75; Hist. MSS. Reports, ut supra, pp. 329-30. In this latter authority the draft Act is printed with the Lords' amendments as made in a Committee of the whole House. The amendments amount to the extension of the benefit of naturalization to the issue of her body and all persons lineally descended of her, born or hereafter to be born as if they had been born within the realm of England. This bill was a blow to the territorial idea of nationality and introduced a novel principle into English naturalization law.]

Naturalization on the Oaths Rolls.

INTRODUCTION.

THE special lists of Denizations entered on the Oaths Rolls and covering the years 1708-10 are the outcome of a temporary and merciful relaxation of the ordinary formalities attending the obtaining of private naturalization acts. The purpose of the relaxation was at once to facilitate and to cheapen the obtaining of native privileges. It was exactly the same motive which produced the Secretary of State's certifications of denizens during the years 1681 to 1684, for which see the preceding volume of the Denization Huguenot Society Publications, Vol. XVIII, pp. 124-5 and 126-214.

In the present volume reference has already been made to a futile attempt to cheapen and accelerate the naturalization of the subjects of the Principality of Orange. That attempt failed in Parliament, but it furnished the substance of the procedure which was adopted in 1708 by the Act of 7 Anne, c. 5, which initiated the following lists.

This Act is to be regarded as (it was indeed, as its title shows) a general Naturalization Act rather than as a general Denization Act. It provided that persons complying with the conditions laid down therein shall be deemed adjudged and taken to be her Majesty's natural born subjects of this kingdom to all intents, constructions and purposes as if they and every of them had been or were born within this kingdom.

The conditions required were that they should be foreign Protestants; that they should take and subscribe the oaths [of allegiance and supremacy] and should make and subscribe the declaration set out in the Act of 6 Anne c. 78 § 3. These oaths are given below.

The swearing and declaration had to be performed in one of the four courts at Westminster, Chancery, Queen's Bench, Common Pleas or Exchequer, in open court; or before the Lords of Council and Session or Lords of Justiciary or Barons of the Exchequer in Scotland in open court; or at some General Quarter Sessions of Peace to be holden for the county where the person resides: an entry to be made of record and only a fee of 1/- to be charged for the whole procedure. but as a necessary preliminary the person concerned had to take the Sacrament within three months and had to produce his sacramental certificate at the time of making his oath and declaration in court and an entry of this certificate had to be there made of record.

This Act is notable for two additional clauses, both of which were inserted as amendments in the House of Commons (1) Persons qualifying themselves as above in Ireland were to be deemed and taken as the Queen's natural born subjects of the Kingdom of Ireland.

This clause contains an explicit recognition of a distinction of allegiance or nationality as between England and Ireland (see Introduction to Vol. XVIII., pp. xxiv.-v.)

(2) All children of natural born subjects were to be deemed themselves natural born subjects of this kingdom even when born out of her Majesty's allegiance.

This clause is to be considered the origin of the fatal modern juristic notion of double allegiance—a notion that has made modern law of nationality a hopeless jungle of uncertainty and contradiction.

In the Lords a protest was entered against this Act of general naturalization as likely to be very prejudicial to the trade and manufacturers of this nation and to be of ill consequence to our liberties and religion.

But the Lords made no protest against the above last-named clause, which was destined to be much more fatal in a much wider sphere.

The above Act of 7 Anne c. 5 was of short duration. It was repealed by the Act of 10 Anne c. 9, namely, as from the date 4 Feb., 1711-12, without prejudice to any naturalizations made under the said repealed Act up to or before the said date. Very significantly the repealing Act did not repeal the above-mentioned last clause relating to natives' children born out of allegiance.

For the legislative history of these two Acts see (1) Commons Journals, xvi., pp. 108, 116, 128, 131, 133, 143, 158, 170; Lords Journals, xviii., pp. 660, 661, 667, 668, 680.

(2) Commons Journals, xvi., pp. 457, 464, 468, 470, 472; Lords Journals xix., 212, 215, 365, 368, 369, 374.

There are many curious problems connected with the subject of the records relating to this General Naturalization Act.

In the first place there appear to be no oaths rolls for either Ireland or Scotland. My enquiries for these have elicited no information. It is at present impossible to say whether this is to be explained by the supposition that no use was made of the Act in those countries, and therefore no oaths rolls can possibly be in existence or alternatively by the supposition that such rolls do indeed exist but are lost or wrongly classed, and therefore not forthcoming.

Secondly. For the Quarter Session series I am only able to reproduce here the evidence of the Session Rolls for Middlesex. For the remaining Quarter Session districts throughout England information is at present unobtainable, and will continue to be so as long as Quarter Session records remain in the present chaotic state of guardianship. Such enquiries as I have made in likely Huguenot centres, such as Norwich, have resulted in nothing. The whole subject of the treatment and custody of Quarter Session records and Justice of Peace records by Clerks of the Peace has been a burning scandal for centuries. Lambard complained of it in his Eirenarcha in 1581.

Thirdly. As a consequence in the following record we are only dealing with persons who became naturalized in London and Westminster. No estimate can be hazarded as to what proportion these persons formed of the total persons naturalised by the Act of 7 Anne c. 5 in the rest of England or in Scotland or Ireland.

Some three years after the date of the repealing Act the House of Commons called for a return of the persons who had been naturalized under the Act of 1708 (see Commons Journals, xviii, p. 190, 29 June 1715). In obedience to such order the following returns were made to the House:—On the 2nd of July 1715 the Deputy Remembrancer presented a list of persons who took the oaths in the Exchequer (ibid., p. 195); on the 4th of July the Clerk of the Petty Bag acquainted the House that no persons had taken the oaths in the Chancery (ibid., p. 197); on the 5th of July the Clerk of the Crown presented a list of the persons who took the oaths in the King's Bench (ibid., p. 200); on the 6th the Deputy Clerk of the Peace for Middlesex presented a list of persons who took the oaths at the Quarter Sessions for Middlesex (ibid., p. 201); on the 8th the Town Clerk of London presented a list of persons who took the oaths at the Quarter Sessions for London (ibid., p. 219); on the 9th Sir George Cooke, the Chief Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas in Westminster, presented a list of the persons who took the oaths in the Court of Common Pleas.

Of the lists here mentioned the copies which were deposited in the records of the House were all burned in the fire of 1834. The originals should be in existence. But those of the Exchequer and of the Common Pleas cannot be found. The King's Bench list is preserved at the Public Record Office, and is here given in completeness. The record has long been known as the Oaths Rolls, and this designation is here retained. At the end of the present reprint of the Oaths Rolls will be found the entries of naturalizations culled from the Middlesex Quarter Sessions (infra, pp.). Those from the City of London Quarter Sessions records cannot now be found.

In the case of the King's Bench entries which form the bulk of those special naturalization entries the original record is a distinct and separate list, and was manifestly so kept by the Clerk of the Court himself. The duplicate in Latin is evidently a clerical transcript made probably at the very moment of the original subscriptions, and it will be noticed that in many cases this duplicate roll gives Christian names in full which are only abbreviated or are non-existent in the original roll. I consider therefore that the Latin Duplicate Roll preserves the truer record of the surnames, and the forms from it (here given in brackets) are in every case to be preferred. The Latin Christian names however are translations merely, and for these the original roll is to be regarded as preferable.

As to the record itself, there are unusual difficulties in connexion with any orderly understanding and presentation of it. As above explained, it consists of two parallel sets of documents (a) the skins containing the autograph signatures of the persons sworn. These skins are 25 in number, and are made up into Roll No. 1; (b) a clerical court hand Latin transcript of the said signatures. These comprise 13 skins, and are made up into Roll No. 2, which is officially entitled "Crown side swearing rolls, Duplicate Naturalization." This duplicate Roll No. 2 contains transcripts of all the original signatures in Roll No. 1, and in addition it contains 5 skins (now numbered 5, 6, 10, 11, 12), for which no original signatures exist in No. 1 Roll.

The following transcript therefore gives Roll No. 1 complete as it stands (save that all the variants of spelling, &c., from the duplicates are entered in brackets), followed by Skins No. 6, 7, 8, 11, 12 and of Roll No. 2.

As to dates. The Skins of Roll No. 1 contain the term dates but not the regnal year. In Roll No. 2 the missing regnal year date is supplied as follows:—

Skin Nos. 1 and 5 are of 9 Anne.
 Skin Nos. 2, 4, 3 are of 8 Anne.
 Skin Nos. 6, 7, 8, 9 are of 10 Anne.
 Skin No. 10 is of 8 Anne.
 Skin Nos. 11, 12, 13 are of 9 Anne.

As a lasting testimony to the perplexing disorder of the old arrangement of this valuable record I have thought it well to let the above description stand. But it is now happily obsolete. Mr. Giuseppi and myself have made a joint and most laborious collation of the whole record in both rolls, have reduced it all to chronological sequence, the Skins have been arranged in that sequence and the present transcript has itself been re-arranged to follow this chronology. It would be difficult to convey to an outsider the troublesome nature of this task. Users of the present volume will owe a heavy debt of obligation to Mr. Giuseppi for his ungrudged toil over this exceedingly painstaking re-arrangement and collation.

The present order of the rolls, and as a consequence, of the transcript, and the system of duplication between the two series is therefore as follows:—

Roll No. 1.		Roll No. 2.

- (1) Do sincerely promise and swear that I will be faithful and keep true allegiance to her Majesty Queen Anne. So help me God.
- (2). Do swear that I do from my heart abhor, detest and abjure as impious and heretical that damnable doctrine and position that princes excommunicated by the Pope or any authority of the See of Rome may be deposed or murdered by their subjects or any other whatsoever, and I do declare that no foreign prince, person, prelate, state or potentate hath or ought to have any jurisdiction, power, superiority, pre-eminence or authority, ecclesiastical or spiritual, within this realm. So help me God.

FORM OF THE DECLARATION.

Do truly and sincerely acknowledge, profess, testify and declare that I do believe in my conscience before God and the world that our Sovereign Lady Queen Anne is lawful and rightful Queen of the Realm and of all other her Majesty's dominions and countries thereunto belonging, and I solemnly and sincerely declare that I do believe in my conscience the person pretended to be Prince of Wales during the life of the late King James and since his decease pretending to be and taking upon himself the style and title of King of England by the name of James the Third or of Scotland by the name of James the Eighth or the style and title of King of Great Britain, hath not any right or title whatsoever to the crown of this realm or any other the dominions thereunto belonging, and I do renounce, refuse and abjure any allegiance or obedience to him; and I swear that I will bear faith and true allegiance to her Majesty Queen Anne and her will defend to the utmost of my power against all traitorous conspiracies and attempts whatsoever which shall be made against her person, Crown, or dignity, and I will do my best endeavours to disclose and make known to her Majesty and her successors all treason and treacherous conspiracies which I shall know to be against her or any of them, and I do faithfully promise to the utmost of my power to support, maintain and defend the succession of the Crown against him the said James and all other persons whatsoever as the same is and stands settled by an Act entituled an Act declaring the rights and liberties of the subject and settling the succession of the Crown to her present Majesty and the heirs of her body being Protestants, and as the same by one other Act entituled an Act for the further limitation of the Crown and better declaring the rights and liberties of the subjects is and stands settled and entailed after the decease of her Majesty to the Princess Sophia, Electoress and Duchess Dowager of Hanover, and the heirs of her body, being Protestants, and all these things I do plainly and sincerely acknowledge and swear according to these express words to me spoken and according to the plain and common-sense and understanding of the same words without any equivocation, mental evasion, and secret reservation whatsoever, and I do make this recognition, acknowledgment, abjuration, renunciation, and promise heartily, willingly, and truly upon the true faith of a Christian.

I do solemnly and sincerely, in the presence of God, profess, testify and declare that I do believe that in the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper there is not any transubstantiation of the elements of bread and wine into the body and blood of Christ at or after the consecration thereof by any person, and that the invocation or adoration of the Virgin Mary or any other Saint and the sacrifice of the Mass as they are now used in the Church of Rome are superstitious and idolatrous, and I do solemnly and in the presence of God profess, testify and declare that I do make this declaration and every part thereof and by plain and ordinary sense of the words read unto me as they are commonly understood by English Protestants without any evasion, equivocation or mental reservation whatsoever and without dispensation already granted me for this purpose by the Pope or any other authority or person whatsoever or without any hope of any such dispensation from any person or authority whatsoever or without thinking I am or can be acquitted before God or man or absolved of this declaration or any part thereof, although the Pope or any other person or persons or power whatsoever should dispense with or annul the same or declare that it was null and void from the beginning.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY RECORDS.

The list of names below, pp. 108 to 112, are taken entirely from the Middlesex County Records preserved at the Guildhall, Westminster. They preserve the names of persons specially naturalized in the Quarter Sessions of Middlesex under the above Act of 7 Anne, and doubtless reproduce the list which was presented to the House of Commons (see supra, p. 73). The record exists in a double form :

- (1) The actual roll signed in autograph by the persons naturalized. This roll is styled "Oath Roll taken by Foreign Protestants, 8—10 Anne, No. 25." Although styled a roll, this record, like the corresponding King's Bench Roll already printed, is composed of single skins fastened together at the head but not made into a roll. In the present instance there are 11 skins. Each skin contains a formal heading and the autograph signatures follow thereon. The heading on Skin 1 is as follows:—Registrum nominum personarum existentium extraneorum Protestantium anglice foreigine Protestants qui in aperta Curia Generalium Quartialium Sessionum pacis Reginae tentarum pro Comitatu praedicta die Jovis in septimana proxime post Festum Sancti Michaelis Archangeli scilicet quinto die Octobris anno regni Dominae nostrae Annae Dei gratia nunc Reginae Magnae Britanniae, &c., nono coram Johane Bennett milite uno serviente ad legem, Josepho Offley, Nathaniele Manlove armigeris et aliis sociis suis justiciariis dictae Dominae Reginae ad pacem in comitatu praedicta conservandam . . . inter horas nonam et duodecimam ante meridiem . . . personaliter comparuerunt et ceperunt et subscriperunt sacramenta infra contenta et fecerunt, repeterunt et subscriperunt declarationem infra scriptum, &c., ut supra, p. 76.
- (2) Besides the oath roll signatures the names also occur entered by the Clerk of the Peace ambulando in the successive Quarter Sessions Book for the dates in question. The reference to each of these books is given at the head of each entry.

After a little hesitation I have elected to make the Session Book entries the basis of the text which follows. The main reason for this is that in many instances these entries give details of the parish from which the applicant came, whereas the oath roll itself gives the mere signature without any other detail. The variants therefore from the Oath Roll are, in the following list, entered in brackets wherever the actual signature differs or appears to differ from the spelling of the name in the Sessions Book.

The only drawback to this arrangement is that the order of the names in some of the lists (especially the last list) differs in the Oath Roll from that which is here given from the Sessions Book.

13^o Annæ, No. 58.

[On 8 June 1714 a petition was presented to the Commons for John Burr, merchant, born out of allegiance but of English parents, and always professed the Protestant religion and given testimony of his loyalty to her Majesty. The bill received the royal assent July 9. For its legislative history see C.J. xvii, pp. 671, 677, 679, 687, 691, 711, 721; L.J. xix, pp. 736, 739, 742, 745, 759.]*

* From the end of the reign of Anne the naturalizations cease to be preponderatingly those of Huguenots. It is therefore unnecessary to prefix the elaborated introductions giving the full legislative history of each bill. A brief note will therefore in each case suffice for the remaining Acts in this volume. It is only necessary to add that in each case the petition for the Bill states that the petitioner professes the true Protestant religion.

* On the 4th April 1798 a motion was made in the House of Lords "that during the continuance of the present war no bill for naturalizing any person born within any of the territories of any of his Majesty's enemies or in any country occupied by their arms or in any foreign territory, shall be read a second time until the petitioner shall produce a certificate from one of his Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, that the petitioner has produced satisfactory proof that he has conformed in all respects to the laws and regulations respecting aliens arriving in this kingdom or resident therein, and that he is a person well affected to his Majesty's royal person and government and of orderly life and conduct."

Appendix III.

IRISH NATURALIZATION ACTS.

temp. Charles II.

1662. Act for the naturalizing of Lewis Desminiers, et al. (14 and 15 Car. II. C. 5.) and 1665. Act for naturalizing Viscountess Dungan, et al. (17 and 18 Car. II. C. 22.)

For these 2 Acts see respectively Irish Statutes at Large, Vol. II. p. 348 and Vol. III. p. 196. The former of these 2 Acts (Desminiers) is printed in Vol. XVIII. Naturalizations (Huguenot Society) p. 66, incorrectly under date 1655. But on p. 337 of the same volume the date is given correctly as above, viz. 1662. The latter of the 2 Acts is printed Ibid., p. 65 incorrectly under date 1654, and the error of date is not corrected in Vol. XVIII.

The unfortunate mistake as to the date of these 2 Acts as printed above, arose from the incorrect nature of the description of the record from which the entries are derived. For the reign of Charles II the Statute Rolls Chancery (Ireland) are not divided into regnal years, but into parts; but owing to a clerical error in the list they were classified as if the parts were regnal years; thus instead of Statute Rolls Chancery Ireland 6 and 7 Car. II., should be read Statute Rolls Chancery Ireland Charles II, parts 6 and 7.

The present note is inserted as a corrigendum item to pp. 65-6 of Vol. XVIII.
